

Marco Vega

Fellow of the Oxford Leadership Academy, Mexico

email: marco.vega@oxfordleadership.com

Marco Vega is a Fellow of the Oxford Leadership Academy. Marco is an international consultant specialising in the formation and training of leaders and facilitating processes of strategic focusing and change management.

He is the founder and executive director of “Líderes AC” (NPO) and “CREA Global Consultores”, a centre for leadership development. Marco is passionate about helping others to stimulate change that will accelerate the development and growth of their environment, whilst maintaining a clear focus and a firm system of values.

Marco is part of the “Whole Systems Change Summit” international team; he is the only consultant representing Iberoamerica. The intention of this team is to build a better world by supporting the evolution of global consciousness.

Marco has worked with the Federal and local governments in Mexico, such as the Office of the President, Education Ministry and the Finance Ministry. He has also worked with international corporations in Mexico and Latin America including: FEMSA, Mabe, Mitsubishi, Telefonica and Bajio Bank and non-profit organisations including: Kellogg's Foundation, Teleton Foundation, Amigo Daniel A.C and the Young Leaders for Guatemala.

Marco is the creator of the leadership model for San Sebastian University in Concepción, Chile and the intellectual author for the Leadership Model for Kellogg's Foundation in collaboration with LASPAU-Harvard University.

Marco teaches at TEC of Monterrey, Iberoamericana University, UNIVA and Monterrey University. Marco is also part of the Technical Consul Committee of the Organizational Management Master Degree in the Iberoamerican University.

Marco has a Masters Degree in Business Management by the EGADE and a Major in Industrial and Systems Engineering at TEC of Monterrey. He also has a Degree in Organizational Development by Iberoamericana University and he is a certified trainer for the Development Decalogue by the Human Development Institute in Perú.