
EXECUTIVE PROFILE

Cristina-Camargo

FELLOW

“This is the best leadership course I have ever attended. I enjoyed the strong emotional and intellectual challenge. The plenary sessions were clear, structured and well communicated. The group workshops were open and had a positive atmosphere.”

Carole Busquets

Sales Director
Telefónica, Spain

“Strategic Focusing enabled us to build a new corporate culture based on trust & collaboration, focused on the development of the whole company in an eco-based way instead of the traditional command and control and competitive ego-based way which had restricted our corporate growth. The Oxford Leadership’s approach is a pragmatic way of getting business results by connecting people with spirit, wholeness and learning.”

Bjorn Flormann

Former Managing Director
Telefónica, Germany

Cristina is a Fellow of Oxford Leadership. Cristina is an Organisation Consultant and Transaction Analyst specialising in Behaviour. She is a Public Relations Graduate from PUC where she specialised in Human Resources, Marketing, Administration and Communication at FGV. Cristina is based in Brazil.

Cristina has international experience in human development and training area working with several multinational Companies including Texas Instruments and Motorola and has acted as an HR Director responsible for the implementation of leadership and high potential development programmes.

She is certified to implement the “sociocracy” model a participatory leadership model developed in Holland and implemented in several companies in Brazil and South America. She holds International Coaching certificates from the Integrated Coaching Institute (ICI) and Partner Director of Topcoaches. She is a Consultant for the Career Management, an MBA teacher for human and behavior areas at Business School São Paulo.

Cristina works in Portuguese.