

OUR CONSULTANTS EXECUTIVE PROFILE

Marek Roessler

Leadership Consultant
Switzerland & Global

Worked With

Novartis GmbH, Boehringer
Ingelheim GmbH, F. Hoffmann-
La Roche Ltd

Marek is a Fellow at Oxford Leadership. He is a leadership & management consultant, behavioural strategist, experienced facilitator, and executive coach with a 20 year-track record of leading interdisciplinary, cross-cultural teams through strategic innovation and commercialisation processes in three world-leading biopharmaceutical companies. Marek aims to align behavioural science, people, purpose and strategy. He is driven by a deep curiosity, inspired by science and innovation, and is passionate about transforming leaders, teams, and thus businesses, for good.

Expertise

As a purpose-driven global leader himself for many years, Marek has gained a profound appreciation of the impact of both good and bad leaders on the well-being and performance of individuals, teams, and entire organisations. Marek has come to understand that good leadership is a “people sport”, deeply personal and authentic. Marek supports leaders in developing their skill to lead, will to lead, and - most importantly - integrity to lead, i.e., gaining greater clarity on who they want to be as a leader. As a behavioural scientist, Marek is an expert in behavioural change, spanning individuals, team & corporate behaviour and decision making, as well as organisational culture.

Qualifications

Marek holds a MSc in Behavioural Science from the London School of Economics (UK), a MBA conferred by both the Kellogg School of Management (USA) and the WHU-Otto Beisheim School of Management (Germany), and originally graduated with a Diploma (MSc) in Biology from the Johannes Gutenberg-University, Mainz (Germany). In addition, Marek is an alumnus of INSEAD (France & Singapore), having completed their Transition to General Management programme, as well as a certified Intermediate-level Co-Active Coach®, and has enjoyed the benefit of multiple corporate leadership development programmes.

Marek works in English and German.

“

Given his corporate background and broad range of experiences, Marek has created his own coaching style. He is a great listener and approaches topics in a way that is both analytical and highly pragmatic. He is solution-oriented and shares his experience openly – from leadership to entrepreneurship and behavioural science. Marek is genuinely curious about his clients and committed to bringing out the best in people.
